

Early Journal Content on JSTOR, Free to Anyone in the World

This article is one of nearly 500,000 scholarly works digitized and made freely available to everyone in the world by JSTOR.

Known as the Early Journal Content, this set of works include research articles, news, letters, and other writings published in more than 200 of the oldest leading academic journals. The works date from the mid-seventeenth to the early twentieth centuries.

We encourage people to read and share the Early Journal Content openly and to tell others that this resource exists. People may post this content online or redistribute in any way for non-commercial purposes.

Read more about Early Journal Content at <http://about.jstor.org/participate-jstor/individuals/early-journal-content>.

JSTOR is a digital library of academic journals, books, and primary source objects. JSTOR helps people discover, use, and build upon a wide range of content through a powerful research and teaching platform, and preserves this content for future generations. JSTOR is part of ITHAKA, a not-for-profit organization that also includes Ithaka S+R and Portico. For more information about JSTOR, please contact support@jstor.org.

SALE, EXCHANGE, WANTS

(Any library member of the Association may insert, without cost, a ten line notice of books or periodicals wanted, for sale or exchange. Items for the March Bulletin should reach A. L. A. headquarters not later than March 15, 1911.)

WANTEDAcademy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia

A biographical sketch of the late Thomas Say, esq. read before the Academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia, December 16, 1834. By Benjamin H. Coates, M. D. Philadelphia, 1835.

The Western College for Women, Oxford, Ohio

American Naturalist, January, 1910, volume 43, no. 505.

Library of Congress

The Library of Congress has a few copies of the Calendar of Applications and recommendations for office during the Presidency of George Washington; published by the Department of State, 1901. These will be sent upon request to any library needing a copy.

The Library of Congress sometimes receives requests for an outline of the organization of the institution. To give this information the Librarian wishes to call attention to the Manual which formed part 2 of the Report of the Librarian of Congress for 1901. This Manual is fully illustrated and includes a brief historical sketch by David Hutcheson, also the fullest account in print of the constitution, organization and methods.

If any library needs a copy of this report it will be sent upon request. Copies are also for sale to individuals by the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, price 50 cents.